

UNC CFAR Social and Behavioral Science Research Core SABI Database

INSTRUMENT TITLE: Attitudes to HIV Testing

SOURCE ARTICLE: Hesketh, T., Duo, L., Li, H., & Tomkins, A. M. (2005). Attitudes to HIV and HIV testing in high prevalence areas of china: Informing the introduction of voluntary counselling and testing programmes. Sexually Transmitted Infections, 81(2), 108.

RESPONSE OPTIONS: Yes or No

SURVEY ITEMS:

1. All pregnant women should have a free compulsory HIV test
2. All pregnant women should be offered a free test for HIV with the right to refuse
3. A compulsory free HIV test should be added to the premarital examination
4. A free HIV test with the right to refuse should be offered at the premarital examination
5. Would you agree to a free test for HIV?
6. Would you want to know the result?
7. If you were found to be HIV positive would you tell your partner?
8. If you were found to be HIV positive would you tell your friends?
9. If you were found to have syphilis or other STI would you tell your partner?
10. If you were found to have syphilis or other STI would you tell your friends?
11. If you (or partner) tested positive for HIV would you want an abortion?
12. If you had HIV and there was a free medicine to reduce the risk of HIV in the baby would you accept it?

TERMS OF USE:

Individuals may use this information for research or educational purposes only and may not use this information for commercial purposes. When using this instrument, please cite:

Hesketh, T., Duo, L., Li, H., & Tomkins, A. M. (2005). Attitudes to HIV and HIV testing in high prevalence areas of china: Informing the introduction of voluntary counselling and testing programmes. Sexually Transmitted Infections, 81(2), 108.

When presenting results using any survey information you obtained from the SABI, please acknowledge the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill Center for AIDS Research (CFAR), an NIH funded program P30 AI50410.